

Did you ever wonder how an indi-artist pays for their musical endeavours? Well here's the laundry list Bodhi Jones had to tackle in order to finance the making of "Where Does The Time Go?"

How To Make $11,500 Bucks

- . Play some tunes for olympic athletes in Vancouver and Whistler: $2000.00
- . Ask 100.5 The Peak (Radio Station) for a helping hand: $2000.00
- . Raise a litter of puppies and sell a few of em: $1600.00
- . Take your songs to the street (Busking Downtown Vancouver): $1300.00
- . Raid your girlfriends tip jar: $1200.00
- . Ask your drummer to bug his folks for a loan: $1100.00
- . Pre-sell your album online (Big Thanks To The Fans): $1000.00
- . Find a money clip at a bus stop full of Russian Rubles (During 2010 Olympics): $800.00
- . Ask mom for help (She's broke): $300.00
- . Sell your first guitar to the pawn shop (Get it back later): $150.00
- . Take back the empties: $50.00

Tracklist

1. Wake Up!
2. Work The Night Shift
3. I Used To Know How
4. Where Do We Go From Here?
5. Waiting On A Sign
6. Oh Father
7. Where Does The Time Go?
8. I Wish You Well
9. Love Of Mine
10. Blood, Sweat, 'n Tears

"Raw, a bit gritty and full of emotion can describe the voice. Bodhi Jones has talent and when he blows up it's going to happen very quickly".

~ crazydaysandnights.net

"Scratchy-smooth vocals and strong guitars made us listen to his songs, over and over again. He's a big talent, stripped down and raw".

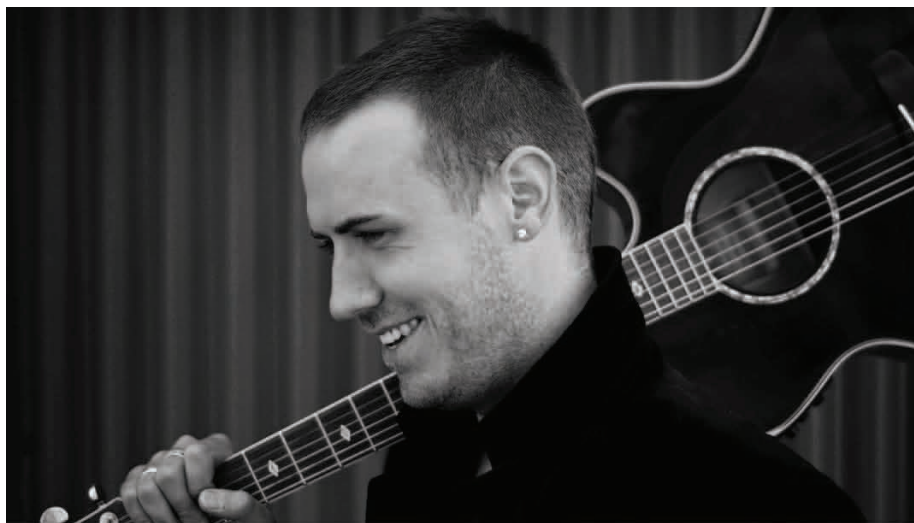

~ The Vancouver Sun

"Bodhi Jones is a versatile, soulful singer, with a ton of potential".

~ The Province

Bodhi Jones

Where Does The Time Go

Bodhi Jones spent his early years with his mother and sister on Saltspring Island. He affectionately refers to it as a "1980's hippie paradise" and says spending his childhood there was an "amazingly magical experience". Shortly after his tenth birthday he and his mom moved from Saltspring to Vancouver in search of greater opportunity, during this time Bodhi felt overwhelmed by the big city and became very isolated. He was often sick and spent a lot of time home alone...it was during these pre-teen years that he truly discovered his passion for music.

Over the past 6 years, Bodhi has recorded 5 EP's and 3 full length albums, selling over 12 000 copies while performing on the streets of downtown Vancouver . In 2009 Bodhi was selected as Virgin Radio's "BC artist of the month", voted into The Peak Performance Project's Top 20, and named Vancouver's best busker by The Georgia Straight. 2010 has brought even more exposure his way: Earning a second consecutive selection in The Peak Performance Project's Top 20 and being voted into Red Robinson's Talent Show Down. He's also receiving airplay on 100.5 The Peak, CBC Radio One, Virgin, The Shore, Citr, CJSF, with live performances on CTV's Canada Am and Global's Morning Show during the 2010 Winter Olympics.

In September of 2010 Bodhi will be releasing a new full length album titled "Where Does The Time Go?" Produced by Winston Hauschild (Hannah Georgas) and mixed by Shawn Cole (Bend Sinister, Yukon Blonde, and You Say Party!), this latest effort is a big step up sonically and shines a big bright light on, Bodhi's heartfelt and honest, song writing. The album is comprised of 10 timeless pop songs, each one lending it's self to this intimate and autobiographical record.

He's just completed his first western Canada tour and is planning a Cross-Canada tour this October in support of his new album and up coming music video release.

Print/Radio/Digital Media
Killbeat Music
P. 604.683.2124
media@killbeatmusic.com

www.bodhijones.com

www.myspace.com/bodhijones